

Tour Edge Staff Player Scott McCarron Captures 2019 Charles Schwab Cup

Tour Edge ranked as the No. 1 Most Played Utility Iron at Championship Event

Three victories. Three runner-up finishes. 14 Top 10 finishes. Over $2.5 million dollars in prize money earned.

It was an incredible season for Tour Edge staff professional Scott McCarron. He had been the No. 1 ranked player on the PGA Tour Champions since his first win of the season in April.

On Sunday, he clinched the PGA Tour Champions season-long Charles Schwab Cup for the first time in dramatic fashion after watching an amazing hole-out seal his championship season.

The hole-out was not his, but rather a Playoff hole "walk-off" from 123 yards by Jeff Maggert to defeat the only player left who could lay claim to the Cup with a victory at the championship.

McCarron was watching the playoff drama and the hole-out that secured the Schwab Cup and its $1 million bonus from the comfort of the Phoenix Country Club clubhouse.

"That's one of the most incredible shots I've ever seen and one of the most incredible shots that's ever affected me, I guess, that I didn't hit," said McCarron. "Jeff Maggert, my favorite player on PGA TOUR Champions, holes out! I can't believe it!"

There were five players who had a mathematical chance to win the Schwab Cup trophy this week; the top two point leaders who could win without a victory and three others who had to win the tournament and get help from the leaders to win the Cup.

McCarron said that winning the Schwab Cup was the culmination of "an incredible 4 1/2-year journey" that includes five wins since becoming a Tour Edge staff player.

Three years ago, McCarron finished fourth in the season-long Schwab Cup points standings. He finished third two years ago and he finished second last season as he established himself as the player to beat on the PGA Tour Champions.

McCarron, who wears a Tour Edge Exotics logo on his sleeve, capped off a career year with the final 1st place ranking for the 2019 season that comes with a $1 million bonus and the first Schwab Cup of his career.

"I think it's good to recognize the players that have played well all year long," said McCarron, who won three times this year; the Mitsubishi Electric Classic in Duluth, Ga., on April 21; the Insperity Invitational May 5 in Texas; and the Mastercard Japan Championship on June 9 and also led the Tour with 14 Top 10 finishes.

Three Tour Edge Staff Players qualified for the Charles Schwab Cup Championship by ranking in the Top 35 in the Charles Schwab Cup standings.

In all, Tour Edge had five players out of the Top 35 playing their clubs at the championship event.

Tour Edge ranked as the No. 1 utility brand in play at the season finale, the 2nd playoff event in a row that Tour Edge has been No. 1 utility iron brand. This was the 8th time the Exotics CBX Iron-Wood has ranked as the No.1 Most Played utility iron model on the PGA Tour Champions this season.

In the last six events of the season, Tour Edge was in play for 27 Top 25 finishes and experienced a wide array of their products in play, including drivers, fairway woods, hybrids, iron-woods and putters.

Tour Edge was a part of five victories this season on the PGA Tour Champions, adding to their seven wins from 2018.

Seven players that finished in the Top 25 final Charles Schwab Cup standings on the 2019 PGA Tour Champions had Tour Edge clubs in the bag at some point this season.

Tour Edge staffer Tom Lehman finished the season ranked 23rd while winning the season-opening Mitsubishi Electric Championship at Hualalai, his second win with Tour Edge in as many years.

Tour Edge staffer Tim Petrovic finished 24th in the final Charles Schwab Cup standings. He earned $910,578 this season with four Top 10's and 14 Top 25 finishes that included a runner-up finish at the Senior Players Championship. Petrovic has collected four Top 3 finishes in Major championships since joining the Tour Edge professional staff.

Tour Edge staffer Duffy Waldorf finished 38th in the final standings with his three Top 10's and 13 Top 25's this season.

Tour Edge has surpassed 650 clubs in play on the three PGA Tours over the last two seasons. In that time, they have earned over 50 Top 5's and over 200 Top 25's in the bags of over 85 different PGA Tour professionals.

Tour Edge clubs have been in play for 27 wins or runner-up finishes in the last 50 PGA Tour Champions events played.
